

Seattle Urban Farm Company (SUFCo) has built a portfolio of innovative projects and a reputation that indicates our commitment to the advancement of sustainable agriculture. We have developed garden management techniques and systems to effectively and efficiently manage projects in challenging urban and peri-urban sites (peri-urban = immediately adjoining an urban center).

We can help you develop an urban farm at your location or at our Urban Fringe site. A customized production farm will help further your organization's reputation as a leader in environmental sustainability and local food culture. In addition to supplying fresh produce, a farm can: inform your seasonal menu, create a healthy work and living environment, provide educational opportunities and generate a large amount of interest from media outlets and the general public.

Seattle Urban Farm Company is dedicated to the immediate and ongoing success of our farming projects. We have managed farms and gardens ranging in size from small urban plots to 20 acre parcels. Our broad range of agriculture experience enables us to make the most of the space we have available in and around urban centers. We focus on intensive plantings and ongoing organic soil management to ensure high yields season after season. Please review the information included in this packet and let us know if you would like to talk more about a farming project for your organization!

Benefits of a Customized Production Farm

Cultivating your own farm can improve your organization in many ways:

- Fresh Food: Our frequent harvesting and delivery schedule will ensure that your ingredients are at their peak.
- Crop Selection: A farm will give you greater control over the varieties of vegetables and herbs available to your kitchen. It can help guide your seasonal menu and serve as a test site for new and heirloom varieties.
- Participate In The Experience of Growing Your Own Food: Connecting your staff, customers, and stakeholders to your farm is an inspiring and rewarding experience.
- Wellness and Engagement: The farm can provide recreational activities and educational opportunities. We can arrange regular on-farm “work parties” to keep clients and staff engaged in the growing process and help strengthen their connection to the food you serve.
- Public Outreach, Marketing and Branding: The development of your own farm can generate an incredible amount of interest from the public and from local and national media outlets. It will help identify your organization as a “thought leader” in the local, sustainable food movement and create opportunities for ongoing marketing and outreach campaigns.
- Giving Back: It is possible to donate a portion of your production to local food banks or other charitable organizations.
- Environmental Stewardship: The farm will provide a source of certified organic, locally-produced, pesticide-free food; and can help reduce carbon emissions.
- Commitment to Supporting Sustainable Agriculture and Farmland Preservation: Our farmland in Woodinville, WA is preserved under the King County Farmland Preservation program; you can help keep local farmland in production.

Start planning your 2016 farm today!

Seattle Urban Farm Co.
phone: 206. 816.9740
email: famers@seattleurbanfarmco.com
web: www.seattleurbanfarmco.com